

Remote Office

Does your business have more than one location, telecommuters or employees who periodically work from home?

In the traditional telephone world, provisioning these users requires time-consuming customizations and high up-front costs.

With Remote Office, all locations have access to the same call control and execution features, including the ability to dial telephones at each location with 4 digit extension dialing and full access to personal call lists and Microsoft Outlook contacts.

Also, with Remote Office it doesn't matter if a location is right across the street or a thousand miles away. Services can be customized and managed via the CommPilot Personal Portal and the CommPilot Call Manager.

Remote Office does not require any traditional telephone lines.

Key benefits include:

- Reduced expenses for remote usage.
- Consolidation with a single provider.
- Keeps home and remote numbers private, and aggregates billing to company's number.
- Provides full access to CommPilot and business group features from remote location.
